On February 28-29, 2005, this case was tried to the court on the issue of liability. At the close of all the evidence and upon review of all the evidence submitted, after considering the credibility of the witnesses as well as the arguments of counsel, the court announced its decision to render judgment in favor of defendants and entered its findings of fact and conclusions of law on the record. The court determined that plaintiffs failed to produce sufficient credible evidence to support their claims for relief.

Therefore, judgment is rendered in favor of defendants. Court costs are assessed against plaintiffs. The clerk shall serve upon all parties notice of this judgment and its date of entry upon the journal.
