I. INTRODUCTION

The Tax Commissioner denied Claugus Family Farms LP’s (“Caugus”) request for a sales tax exemption under R.C. 5739.01(B)(17) / (42)(n). Claugus seeks a sales tax exemption for its purchase of a 2015 Mercedes-Benz utility vehicle (the “Wagon”), and to qualify for the exemption, Claugus must show that: its timber-farming operations constitute a business; it uses the Wagon directly in its timber-farming operations; and the primary use of the Wagon is the timber-farming operations.

The Tax Commissioner argues that Claugus’s timber-farming operation does not qualify as a business based on a delay since Claugus’s last timber-harvest. The Tax Commissioner claims that the Wagon is not used directly in Claugus’s timber-farming operations but rather is used merely for transportation. And, the Tax Commissioner argues that the Wagon is not used primarily in Claugus’s timber-farming operations because, despite testimony that 95% of the Wagon’s use is in the timber-farming operations, Claugus did not provide use and mileage logs documenting its use of the Wagon. The Tax Commissioner’s arguments are misguided because the evidence in the record that demonstrates that Claugus’s purchase of the Wagon qualifies for the sales tax exemption under R.C. 5739.01(B)(17) / (42)(n). Claugus’s investments show that it is in the business of timber-farming. Claugus’s use of the Wagon to combat non-native invasive species is direct use of in timber-farming, and the primary use of the Wagon is in Claugus’s timber-farming operations.

The Tax Commissioner’s argument that Claugus is not engaged in the business of timber-farming ignores the evidence of Claugus’s substantial investments in the timber-farming operations to address the problem of non-native invasive species as well as the inevitable delay between harvests to allow trees to grow and mature. The Tax Commissioner basically requests that this Court take over the General Assembly’s role and redefine the term “business” to mean only an enterprise that generates a profit each and every year. That is not what the law requires and is contrary to R.C. 5739.01(F), which defines a “Business” to mean “any activity engaged in by any person with the object of gain, benefit, or advantage, either direct or indirect.” The evidence is clear that Claugus’s timber operations are conducted with the object of gain, benefit, or advantage.

The Tax Commissioner also asks this Court to overlook the realities of timber-harvesting and limit “farming” or “agriculture” to only crop or animal based operations. Unlike crops such as corn or soybeans which can be harvested annually, trees take decades to grow. The Tax Commissioner asks this Court to effectively penalize Claugus for its investments in a forest management plan designed to sustainably harvest timber in an ecologically responsible manner. Claugus’s investments in eliminating non-native invasive species in order to sustainably harvest high-value timber should be both lauded and emulated. Instead, the Tax Commissioner derides these investments because Claugus has taken the time to ensure that its timber farming business will operate for generations instead of decades. The Tax Commissioner thus asks this Court to issue a ruling that would reward timber-harvesting that is both unsustainable and ecologically harmful.

The Tax Commissioner also argues that the Wagon is not used directly in the timber-farming operations but rather is merely used for transportation. The evidence shows that Claugus uses the Wagon directly in its timber-farming activities. The Tax Commissioner, however, in distorting this Court’s precedent seeks a ruling that would, in almost all instances, find that the purchase of any vehicle that can be used for transportation is never tax exempt.

Indeed, Claugus's use of the Wagon to eliminate non-native invasive species is analogous to case law holding that similar uses constitute direct use of a vehicle in farming.

Further, in arguing that Wagon is not primarily used in timber farming, the Tax Commissioner seeks to add requirements to R.C. 5739.01 B)(17) / (42)(n) that simply do not exist, namely by claiming that Claugus does not use the Wagon primarily in its timber-farming operations because Claugus does not keep "mileage logs." The evidence in the record establishes that 95% of Claugus's use of the Wagon is primarily for farming, and the Board of Tax Appeals (the "BTA") did not find that Bruce Claugus's testimony on this topic is not credible. In fact, it is highly doubtful that the Tax Commissioner would demand mileage logs for a piece of farm equipment manufactured by John Deere in order to determine whether the equipment is tax exempt. Instead, such a request would be summarily granted. The evidence shows that Claugus is entitled to a sales-tax exemption under R.C. 5739.01(B)(17) / (42)(n) for its purchase of the Wagon.

II. LAW & ARGUMENT

A. The Standard For Obtaining The Sales-tax exemption Stated In The Tax Commissioner's Brief Is More Restrictive Than The Law Requires.

In "Proposition of Law I," the Tax Commissioner generally articulates the standard for obtaining a sales or use tax exemption for personal property. However, the Tax Commissioner appears to be limiting the availability of the exemption to only R.C. 5739.02(B)(42)(n) and for "farming" as defined by Ohio Administrative Code 5703-9-23(A)(1). Under R.C. 5739.02(B), the following sales are not subject to sales tax:

Sales to persons engaged in farming, agriculture, horticulture, or floriculture, of tangible personal property for use or consumption primarily in the production by farming, agriculture, horticulture, or floriculture of other tangible personal property";

* * *

Sales where the purpose of the purchaser is . . . To use or consume the thing transferred primarily in producing tangible personal property for sale by farming, agriculture, horticulture, or floriculture. . . . [R.C. 5739.02(B)(17) / (42)(n).]

“Farm operations” are “any activity conducted solely or primarily for the production of one or more agricultural products or commodities, including timber, for sale or home use, and customarily producing such products or commodities in sufficient quantity to be capable of contributing materially to the operator’s support.” R.C. 163.51(G); see also R.C. 1.61 (defining “agriculture” to include “timber”); Wray v. Gahm Properties, Ltd., 2018-Ohio-50, 103 N.E.3d 148, ¶ 13 (4th Dist.); R.C. 5713.30(A)(1)(a) (“Land devoted exclusively to agricultural use” includes tracts, lots, or parcels of land [] devoted exclusively to . . . the production for a commercial purpose of timber”); R.C. 929.01(A)(1) (“Agricultural production” includes “the production for a commercial purpose of timber”).

Thus, Claugus’s timber operations constitute farming or agriculture under the terms “farming” or “agriculture” under either provision of R.C. 5739.02.

B. The Tax Commissioner Urges This Court To Apply A More Stringent Standard For Claugus’s Timber-Farming Operations Than is Applicable To Traditional Farming.

1. The Record Is Clear That Claugus Is In The Business Of Timber-Farming.

The Tax Commissioner argues that, because Claugus has not harvested timber since 2008, it is not engaged in the business of farming. This is not the proper statutory analysis, and it ignores the evidence showing that Claugus’s timber-farming operation is indeed a business. The delay since the last timber harvest is fully explained in the record as an investment by Claugus in a business strategy to manage its timber acreage to produce sustained and profitable timber harvests in an ecologically responsible manner. The Tax Commissioner is advocating for a policy that punishes such sound practices. The Tax Commissioner’s position is problematic, and simply ignoring the problem of non-native invasive species and environmental scourges such as the emerald ash borer is not an option. Tr. 165:6-166:11, 183:11-184:21.¹

a. Claugus Does Not Have To Show Profits To Establish It Is In The Business Of Timber-Farming Under R.C. 5739.01(F).

Under R.C. 5739.01(F), “Business” means “any activity engaged in by any person with the object of gain, benefit, or advantage, either direct or indirect.” Id. Profits are not the sole determinative factor of whether an organization is engaged in the business of farming. See State ex rel. City Loan & Savings Co. of Wapakoneta v. Zellner, 133 Ohio St. 263, 270 (1938) (“It is significant, however, that the statute defining the term ‘business’ does not use or include the word ‘profit.’ ‘Profit’ may be said to be ‘gain, benefit, or advantage,’ but ‘gain, benefit, or advantage’ does not necessarily mean only ‘profit.’ One may engage in a business activity with an object of ‘gain, benefit, or advantage’ and not necessarily for ‘profit.’”).

The case law cited by the Tax Commissioner does not support the argument that Claugus is not engaged in timber farming as a business. The Commissioner relies on Grayson Family Farm v. Testa, BTA No. 2017-1983, 2018 WL 2409821, *2 (May 21, 2018), but the BTA determined that the taxpayer failed to produce any evidence that it used the vehicle at issue in the business of farming and simply relied on arguments in its Notice of Appeal. Id. Similarly, in Topola v. Levin, BTA No. 2011-K-4549, 2012 Ohio Tax LEXIS 5444, *4 (Nov. 13, 2012), the taxpayer appealed the Tax Commissioner’s final determination, but he waived a hearing before the BTA and failed to present evidence demonstrating that his use of an ATV was for the business of farming. Id.

Here, the record is replete with evidence showing that Claugus is engaged in timber-farming as a business. Claugus’s objective is ultimately to generate a profit. Tr. 164:18-165:22.

However, timber-harvesting can have decade long gaps, which means that no revenue is earned during these periods, but that does not mean that Claugus is not engaged in the business of farming. Tr. 69:20-72:12. It is a fundamental and unavoidable aspect of timber-harvesting that trees take decades to grow before their timber may be harvested. Id. This is normal in any timber-harvesting operation. Id. Furthermore, the only timber operations that can harvest annually are industrial-scale operations in other parts of the country controlled by large corporations. Tr. 126:10-127:7. Such a scale is not required for Claugus to demonstrate that it is in the business of timber-farming. Moreover, it is inconsistent with the realities of timber-farming throughout the country where a substantial portion of forest are owned by families, not large corporations.²

The Tax Commissioner admits that Claugus's stated business objective is to harvest and sell commercial timber for a profit. Comm'r Brief at 9. The Tax Commissioner notes that from 2011 through 2018 Claugus reported losses on its federal income tax returns. But such losses demonstrate that Claugus is taking steps towards harvesting timber and is engaged in the business of timber farming. If it were not, what is the purpose of hiring a forester, implementing that forester's timber management plan, and hiring individuals to follow that plan by eradicating non-native invasive species? The obvious answer is Claugus is investing these funds to turn a profit once the timber is ready to be harvested and sold. If Claugus was not in the business of timber-farming, there would be no need to spend hundreds of thousands of dollars just to avoid paying an $8,000 sales tax bill.

Ohio Board of Tax Appeals

² "More than half of all the forestland in the U.S. (423 million acres) is owned by 11 million private forest landowners. Of those private owners, 92 percent --- 10 million --- are classified as —family forest owners." "Small Farms and Woodlots" by Eric Norland (National Program Leader Forest Resource Management USDA, Small Farm Digest, Vol. 15, Winter 2010.

b. Claugus's Investments In Addressing Non-Native Invasive Species Are A Timber-Farming Business Objective.

The Tax Commissioner's arguments ignore the significance of Claugus's investments in its timber-farming business. Both Mr. Claugus and Alex Kindler testified to Claugus's substantial investments in its timber farming business. Claugus retained Chad Hammond as forest manager and then later retained Mr. Kindler as his successor. Tr. 6:23-10:15; Tr. 20:14-22:22; Tr. Ex. 2, R-12. These professionals were retained to ensure that Claugus's timber acreage is managed such that it can produce sustained and profitable timber harvests. Tr. 21:3-21:22; Tr. 66:2-66:14.

Moreover, the record is clear that a key issue impacting Claugus's long-term profitability is the presence of non-native invasive species. Tr. 66:15-69:22. Following Mr. Kindler's retention, one of his most important objectives has been to identify the non-native invasive species on Claugus's property and develop a strategy for removing them. Id. To that end, Claugus has followed Mr. Kindler's recommendations and hired licensed vendors to remove non-native invasive species throughout the property so that those species do not spread and threaten the health of the forest. Tr. 63:6-68:10.

Claugus's financial investment in addressing non-native invasive species has been substantial and it is geared toward a productive harvest. Tr. 66:2-66:14. Moreover, Mr. Kindler testified that the prior harvesting on Claugus's farm could not be maintained without first addressing the farm's non-native invasive species. Tr. 66:15-66:20. Claugus has also invested about $12,000 in the roads on and near the property to bring machinery into the forest and improve the ability to identify non-native invasive species. Tr. 162:6-163:17.

Thus, the delay since the last timber harvest is not a mere "hiatus" as characterized by the Tax Commissioner. Claugus's substantial investments in its timber-farming operation show that it is engaged in timber-farming with the object of gain, benefit, or advantage, either direct or indirect. The fact that the nature of timber-farming results in long periods between revenue (and thus profits) being generated does not make Claugus's timber-farming operation any less of a "business." The Tax Commissioner is simply trying to hold Claugus to a standard not based in the law.

2. The Wagon Is Used Directly In Claugus's Timber-Farming Operations.

The Tax Commissioner argues that Claugus's use of the Wagon is for mere transportation and thus not directly used in Claugus's timber-farming operations. The Tax Commissioner's position urges this Court expand its precedents to rule that any personal property that can be characterized as "transportation" is not exempt under R.C. 5739.02(B)(17) / (42)(n). This Court has held that personal property used for mere transportation does not qualify for an exemption. See, e.g., Tri-State Asphalt Corp. v. Glander, 152 Ohio St. 497, 505 (1950) (holding that boom and bucket cranes which were used to convey ingredients to a place of processing were not exempt from tax). However, the Tax Commissioner urges this Court to expand the law well beyond what was intended by relying on case law that does not involve a vehicle like the Wagon or circumstances for which the Wagon is being used. Further, the Tax Commissioner's arguments do not consider that the Wagon is directly used in traversing the exceedingly rugged terrain of Claugus's property to address the problems caused by non-native invasive species. Tr. 158:7-160:2.

a. Claugus's Use Of The Wagon To Address Environmental Threats Such As Non-Native Invasive Species Constitutes Direct Use In Timber-Farming.

The Tax Commissioner argues that the Wagon is merely used to transport persons, things, and equipment, and therefore it is not used directly in Claugus's timber-farming operations. The Tax Commissioner's argument, however, ignores the actual uses of the Wagon and relevant case law.

Indeed, where vehicles have been held to be directly used in farming activities they are exempt. For example, in Skiles v. Tracy, 94-H-633, 1996 WL 765627, *2 (Oct. 18, 1996), a livestock trailer was used to transport: (1) feeder pigs to the facility; (2) grown hogs for resale; (3) feeder pigs for inoculations; and (4) sick pigs for quarantine. Because the trailer was purchased to prevent the spread of disease, the BTA granted an exemption. Id. at *3.

In Hemmelgarn & Sons, Inc. v. Zaino, 2002-T-473, 2004 WL 874710, *1 (Apr. 9, 2004), the BTA granted a farm use exemption for tractor trailers, tanker trailers, and related parts. The taxpayer used the tanker trailers to deliver feed to chickens in order to minimize the potential for contamination of the chickens' food. Id. at *5. The BTA concluded that the tanker trailers played a direct role in the chicken's care, which warranted granting an exemption. Id. Additionally, the taxpayer used tractor-trailers to transport eggs from the farms to a processing plant in order to maintain a constant temperature, which prevented the growth of harmful bacteria, and ensured that all state and USDA requirements were being met. Id. at *7. The BTA concluded that the tractor-trailers and related parts were primarily used to prevent the growth of harmful bacteria in the eggs and to preserve the eggs for human consumption, which warranted granting an exemption. Id.

Similar to using vehicles to prevent the spread of disease or contaminants, Claugus uses the Wagon to prevent the spread of non-native invasive species throughout the property. The Wagon is uniquely suited for this purpose. Claugus's property is unquestionably rugged with multiple acres that are nearly impossible to access. Tr. 52:17-60:5; Tr. 157:20-160:2; Tr. Exs. 5A-C, R-12. And, the Wagon was designed for rugged terrain. Tr. 175:23-176:2. The Wagon can climb at a 45 degree angle, traverse at a 35 degree angle, and wade through two-feet of water. Id. As Mr. Kindler and Mr. Claugus testified, herbicides are necessary to treat non-native invasive species. Tr. 77:14-78:13; Tr. 179:13-181:7. The use of herbicides is necessary to kill the root system of non-native invasive species. Id. Additionally, the treatment of non-native invasive species must be done seasonally, which is only possible while using a vehicle like the Wagon. Tr. 182:15-183:6.

Thus, like the use of the vehicles in Skiles and Hemmelgarn & Sons to prevent the spread of disease and contaminants, the Wagon is used to prevent the spread of non-native invasive species on the farm and prevent future contamination of the timber itself. Mr. Claugus testified that, had the Wagon been available when the emerald ash borer came through the property, Claugus could have potentially salvaged its ash-tree population. Id. As Mr. Claugus testified, if a new pest such as the spotted lanternfly attacks Claugus's maple or walnut trees, it would be catastrophic for the business. Tr. 165:23-166:11. Thus, the Wagon is used directly in Claugus's timber-farming operations to prevent such a calamitous result. Tr. 182:4-184:21.

b. The Use Of The Vehicles In The Case Law Relied Upon By The Tax Commissioner Is Distinguishable From Claugus's Use Of The Wagon.

The case law relied upon by the Tax Commissioner is distinguishable from Claugus's use of the Wagon. The Tax Commissioner notes that the BTA's decision in Topola v. Levin, BTA No. 2011-K-4549, 2012 Ohio Tax LEXIS 5444, *4 (Nov. 13, 2012), stands for the proposition that "the use of vehicles for transportation around a farm, as well as general uses such as delivering parts and cutting and hauling of wood and brush, do not constitute direct farming activities." Comm'r Brief at 12, citing BTA Decision at 4. However, the vehicle at issue in Topola was an ATV that was simply used to transport items around the farm due, in part, to the taxpayer's age and physical limitations. See Topola, 2012 Ohio Tax LEXIS 5444, at

*5. As noted above, Claugus's uses of the Wagon are far more sophisticated than the ATV in Topola.

The Tax Commissioner also cites Bahan Farms, LLC v. McClain, BTA Case No. 2017-2180, 2019 Ohio Tax LEXIS 434, *4-6 (March 11, 2019) in support of her position. In Bahan, the taxpayer sought an exemption for a 2005 Freightliner Model CL 120 semi-tractor. Id. at *1. That semi-tractor (i.e., a common over-the-road 18-wheeler) hauled seed, fertilizer, and equipment among the taxpayer's 4,800 acres of farm, hauled harvested grain for processing and storage, and then hauled product to the final point of sale. Id. *2-3. This vehicle was used solely for transportation. See id. at *5. Similarly, the Tax Commissioner cites Hart v. Limbach, BTA No. 1986-D-280, 1988 Ohio Tax LEXIS 780, *3 (July 22, 1988), which upheld the denial of an exemption for a Ford Bronco that was used "to haul supplies on the public roads to the farm, and to haul the produce from the field to the place of sale." Id. Such uses are easily distinguishable from Claugus's uses of the Wagon to traverse extremely rugged terrain to address the non-native invasive species throughout the property.

c. Contrary To The Tax Commissioner's Argument, Claugus Has Modified The Wagon For Use In Its Timber-Farming Operations.

The Tax Commissioner also notes that the Wagon has not been modified or retrofitted for a specific agricultural use. Comm'r Brief at 13. First, there is no requirement that the Wagon be modified or retrofitted in order to demonstrate that it is directly used in timber-farming. Moreover, Mr. Claugus testified that he did have the tires on the Wagon modified in order to climb some of the farm's terrain. Tr. 221:14-222:17.

Thus, given the terrain and the need to use the Wagon to proactively address the problem of non-native invasive species (and the lack of any effective alternative method for doing so), the BTA erred in concluding that the Wagon was not used directly in the Claugus's timber-farming activities.

3. The Wagon Is Used Primarily In Claugus's Timber-Farming Operations.

The Tax Commissioner claims that the Wagon is not primarily used in Claugus's farming operations because Claugus does not keep a vehicle use log (which is not required for the exemption) and the Wagon can be driven over the road (which is not prohibited to qualify for the exemption). Neither of these points warrant the denial of Claugus's request for an exemption.

As Mr. Claugus testified, 95% of the Wagon's use is in the Claugus's timber operations. Tr. 185:24-186:8. This testimony is not refuted. Instead, the BTA and the Tax Commissioner are imposing additional requirements that do not exist in the law. Indeed, there is no statutory requirement that use or mileage logs must be maintained to qualify for an exemption. If the General Assembly required usage logs for granting an exemption they could have created that requirement. It did not and there is no basis to create a new standard now.

The Tax Commissioner notes that there was testimony that the Wagon can be driven on conventional roads. Again, there is nothing in the statute that bars an exemption simply because a vehicle can be driven on the road. Indeed, the analysis is whether the vehicle is primarily used for farming, not whether the vehicle is exclusively used in farming. The fact that the Wagon was driven "south of Marietta" one time and was involved in a minor fender bender does not negate that 95% of the Wagon's use is in the Farm's timber operations. Tr. 185:24-186:8. Indeed, Mr. Claugus testified that the Wagon is poorly suited to conventional uses as it is loud and gets poor gas mileage. Tr. 184:24-185:13. Claugus has a different car that travels off the farm. Tr. 186:9-186:13. Thus, the evidence shows that Claugus uses the Wagon primarily in its timber farming operations.

III. CONCLUSION

The record demonstrates that Claugus's use of the Wagon satisfies the requirements for a sales-tax exemption under R.C. 5739.01(B)(17) and/or (42)(n). As a result, this Court should reverse the BTA's Decision, and order that Claugus's purchase of the Wagon be exempt from sales tax.

(1) Tracts, lots, or parcels of land totaling not less than ten acres to which, during the three calendar years prior to the year in which application is filed under section 5713.31 of the Revised Code, and through the last day of May of such year, one or more of the following apply:

(a) The tracts, lots, or parcels of land were devoted exclusively to commercial animal or poultry husbandry, aquaculture, algaculture meaning the farming of algae, apiculture, the cultivation of hemp by a person issued a hemp cultivation license under section 928.02 of the Revised Code, the production for a commercial purpose of timber, field crops, tobacco, fruits, vegetables, nursery stock, ornamental trees, sod, or flowers, or the growth of timber for a noncommercial purpose, if the land on which the timber is grown is contiguous to or part of a parcel of land under common ownership that is otherwise devoted exclusively to agricultural use.

(b) The tracts, lots, or parcels of land were devoted exclusively to biodiesel production, biomass energy production, electric or heat energy production, or biologically derived methane gas production if the land on which the production facility is located is contiguous to or part of a parcel of land under common ownership or leasehold that is otherwise devoted exclusively to agricultural use, provided that (i) at least fifty per cent of the feedstock used in the production is agricultural feedstock, (ii) at least twenty per cent of the agricultural feedstock used in the production is derived from parcels of land under common ownership or leasehold, and (iii) none of the feedstock used in the production consists of human waste. As used in this division, "agricultural feedstock" means manure and food waste, and "human waste" includes sludge as defined in section 6111.01 of the Revised Code.

(c) The tracts, lots, or parcels of land were devoted to and qualified for payments or other compensation under a land retirement or conservation program under an agreement with an agency of the federal government.

(2) Tracts, lots, or parcels of land totaling less than ten acres that, during the three calendar years prior to the year in which application is filed under section 5713.31 of the Revised Code and through the last day of May of such year, were devoted exclusively to commercial animal or poultry husbandry, aquaculture, algaculture meaning the farming of algae, apiculture, the cultivation of hemp by a person issued a hemp cultivation license under section 928.02 of the Revised Code, the production for a commercial purpose of field crops, tobacco, fruits, vegetables, timber, nursery stock, ornamental trees, sod, or flowers where such activities produced an average yearly gross income of at least twenty-five hundred dollars during such three-year period or where there is evidence of an anticipated gross income of such amount from such activities during the tax year in which application is made, or were devoted to and qualified for payments or other compensation under a land retirement or conservation program under an agreement with an agency of the federal government;

(3) Tracts, lots, or parcels of land, or portions thereof that, during the previous three consecutive calendar years have been designated as land devoted exclusively to agricultural use, but such land has been lying idle or fallow for up to one year and no action has occurred to such land that is either inconsistent with the return of it to agricultural production or converts the land devoted exclusively to agricultural use as defined in this section. Such land shall remain designated as land devoted exclusively to agricultural use provided that beyond one year, but less than three years, the landowner proves good cause as determined by the board of revision.

(4) Tracts, lots, or parcels of land, or portions thereof that, during the previous three consecutive calendar years have been designated as land devoted exclusively to agricultural use, but such land has been lying idle or fallow because of dredged material being stored or deposited on such land pursuant to a contract between the land's owner and the department of natural resources or the United States army corps of engineers and no action has occurred to the land that is either inconsistent with the return of it to agricultural production or converts the land devoted exclusively to agricultural use. Such land shall remain designated as land devoted exclusively to agricultural use until the last year in which dredged material is stored or deposited on the land pursuant to such a contract, but not to exceed five years.

"Land devoted exclusively to agricultural use" includes tracts, lots, or parcels of land or portions thereof that are used for conservation practices, provided that the tracts, lots, or parcels of land or portions thereof comprise twenty-five per cent or less of the total of the tracts, lots, or parcels of land that satisfy the criteria established in division (A)(1), (2), (3), or (4) of this section together with the tracts, lots, or parcels of land or portions thereof that are used for conservation practices.

Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, the existence of agritourism on a tract, lot, or parcel of land that otherwise meets the definition of "land devoted exclusively to agricultural use" as defined in this division does not disqualify that tract, lot, or parcel from valuation under sections 5713.30 to 5713.37 and 5715.01 of the Revised Code.

A tract, lot, or parcel of land taxed under sections 5713.22 to 5713.26 of the Revised Code is not land devoted exclusively to agricultural use.

The construction or installation of an energy facility, as defined in section 5727.01 of the Revised Code, on a portion of a tract, lot, or parcel of land devoted exclusively to agricultural use shall not cause the remaining portion of the tract, lot, or parcel to be regarded as a conversion of land devoted exclusively to agricultural use if the remaining portion of the tract, lot, or parcel continues to be devoted exclusively to agricultural use.

(C) "Tax savings" means the difference between the dollar amount of real property taxes levied in any year on land valued and assessed in accordance with its current agricultural use value and the dollar amount of real property taxes that would have been levied upon such land if it had been valued and assessed for such year in accordance with Section 2 of Article XII, Ohio Constitution.

(D) "Owner" includes, but is not limited to, any person owning a fee simple, fee tail, or life estate or a buyer on a land installment contract.

(E) "Conservation practices" are practices used to abate soil erosion as required in the management of the farming operation, and include, but are not limited to, the installation, construction, development, planting, or use of grass waterways, terraces, diversions, filter strips, field borders, windbreaks, riparian buffers, wetlands, ponds, and cover crops for that purpose.
