

Restricting Access to Courts through ADR Clauses – Considerations, Policies, and Practices

Professor Doron Kalir, Esq.
Cleveland-Marshall College of Law

Restricting Access to Courts through ADR Clauses – Considerations, Policies, and Practices

Doron M. Kalir, Cleveland-Marshall College of Law

Bibliography

Cases

Epic Systems Corp. v. Lewis, (S.Ct. 2018 Term, TBA)

Degidio v. Crazy Horse Saloon, No. 17-1145 (4th Cir. 2018)

Kindred Nursing Ctrs. V. Clark, 137 S. Ct. 1421 (2017)

Richmond Health Facilities v. Nichols, 811 F. 3d 192 (6th Cir. 2016)

Chesapeake Appalachia v. Scout Petroleum, 809 F. 3d 746 (3rd Cir. 2016)

DIRECTV v. Imburgia, 136 S. Ct 462 (2015)

Am. Express v. Italian Colors Rest., 133 S. Ct. 2304 (2013)

AT&T Mobility v. Conception, 563 U.S. 333, 131 S. Ct. 1740 (2011)

Academic Articles

Jodi Wilson, How the Supreme Court Thwarted the Purpose of Federal Arbitration Act, 63 CAS. W. RES. L. REV. 91 (2010)

Jill I. Gross, Justice Scalia's Hat Trick and the Supreme Court's Flawed Understanding of Twenty-First Century Arbitration, 81 BROOKLYN L. REV. (2015)

Brian Farkas, The Continuing Voice of Dissent: Justice Thomas and the Federal Arbitration Act, 22 HARV. NEGOTIATION L. REV. 33 (2016)

Others

Jessica Silver-Greenberg and Robert Gebeloff, Arbitration Everywhere, Stacking the Deck of Justice, NY Times, Oct. 31 2015, at p. A1. (Part I/III).

Jessica Silver-Greenberg and Michael Corkery, In Arbitration, a 'Privatization of the Justice System', NY Times, Nov. 1, 2015, at p. A1 (Part II/III)

Michael Corkery and Jessica Silver-Greenberg, In Religious Arbitration, Scripture is the Rule of Law, NY Times, Nov. 2, 2015, at p. A1 (Part III/III)